All partners, that have become parties to, were urged to implement all of the 12 international counter-terrorism conventions and protocols and become signatories to the International Convention for the Suppression of Acts of Nuclear Terrorism adopted in April 2005, and calls upon ASEM partners that have not done so, to sign and ratify those 13 conventions. Partners committed themselves to enhance efforts to finalise the Comprehensive Convention against Terrorism. The Representative from UNODC outlined UNODC’s capacity and institution building programmes to enable requesting countries to achieve this objective, and a number of delegates commented favorably on assistance received from UNODC.

5. The Conference recognised that terrorism, including its links with transnational organised crime, money laundering, trafficking in persons, people smuggling, trafficking in forged documents, illicit arms trafficking as well as illicit drugs manufacturing and trafficking, posed serious threats to the peace and security of Asia and Europe and beyond. Therefore the Conference underlined the significance of concerted efforts and coordinated responses including institutional and capacity building at national and regional level to combat terrorism.

6. The Conference firstly evaluated the progress of ASEM cooperation on counter terrorism with reference to the implementation of the recommendations of the 2004 Berlin Conference. The Conference hence held comprehensive and fruitful discussions on three major topics: Cooperation in Border Control and Security, Enhancing Law Enforcement Cooperation, and Cooperation among Regional Centers in Counter Terrorism. New areas of ASEM counter terrorism cooperation such as in the area of enhancing interfaith dialogue and empowering the moderates, were also explored accordingly.

7. The Conference further underscored the significance of making use of practical measures to prevent radicalisation and combat violent radicalism. The Conference urged all ASEM partners as well as the international community to intensively promote interfaith, inter-cultural and inter-civilisation dialogue to broaden mutual understanding, and tolerance towards building cooperation and harmony within the international community. The Conference reiterated that global efforts to combat terrorism must be comprehensive and include efforts to identify and eliminate the underlying factors and root causes of terrorism without acknowledging these as justifications for terrorist and/or criminal activities.

8. The Conference, guided by the Declaration on Cooperation against International Terrorism endorsed at ASEM 4 Summit and in the ASEM Cooperation Programme on Fighting International Terrorism, highlighted the following:
- On evaluation of ASEM cooperation on counter-terrorism, particularly on the implementation of the Berlin recommendations, the participants discussed the development on the initiative to establish 24 hours/7 days networking of counter-terrorism agencies. Germany presented the Directory of Existing Institutions and Fora of Intra-Interregional and international Cooperation in the Area of Fighting Terrorism.

- On other measures in preventing terrorism, particularly within the framework of coordination among the counter-terrorism agencies of the ASEM members, Finland raised the possibility to establish regular meetings of Heads of national counter-terrorism agencies. The modalities of the meeting are subject for further study and coordination to be reported to the 4th Conference in Denmark.

- On improving cooperation in border control and security, the Conference was of the view that there is a need for improvement of border control and security management, including information sharing on customs and immigration. The participants whilst sharing their experiences in improving their national border control system viewed that immigration and customs are crucial matters and explored the possibility of developing further cooperation in this field, including providing information on lost and stolen travel documents to the Interpol (ICPO) database. They also encouraged all partners to share information on suspected terrorists and if possible, establish information networking among ASEM members. The participants also attached the importance to ensuring effective cooperation between border control agencies such as customs and immigration with intelligence and security agencies.

The Conference discussed the issues on joint investigation of terror attack, cooperation on mutual legal assistance as well as preventing the financing of terrorism. Participants agreed on the importance of exchanging information in operational terms through all the channels provided for law enforcement. A good instrument on this regard is the liaison of anti-terrorist officers. The participants also discussed the need to overcome the differences in the legal systems to ensure that the terrorist are prosecuted for their crimes. Regarding post blast investigation, participants agreed on intensifying information-sharing acquired through investigation and discussed possible joint investigation by law enforcement agencies of the ASEM partners. The participants congratulated Italy and the United Kingdom for the joint investigation that led to the arrest of one of the suspects of the failed attack in London on 21 July 2005 as a good and practical example of a successful cooperation against terrorism.

- On preventing the financing of terrorism, the participants agreed that this effort plays an essential role in dealing with the global threat of terrorism. In this respect participants agreed on the need to take into account both the activities of financing the terrorist organisations and the financing of a single act of terrorism that could be financed through petty crimes. Participants further exchanged experiences on the development of Financial Intelligence Units (FIU) in their respective countries and cooperation in the sharing of financial intelligences among the FIUs. In order to further promote the development of counter-terrorism capacity in the countries fighting against terrorism, they viewed that the importance of inviting ASEM partners’ counter terrorism authorities to participate in the Centres’ activities. The participants had an opportunity to visit and observe JCLEC’s facilities and activities.
